

I am a small business owner and feel that the NJ DO-NOT-CALL law is overly restrictive and not practical. The way I understand it, if I already have a business relationship, I could be fined in violation of NJ's law if I called one of my clients to follow up to insure my customer's satisfaction. This is rediculous.